Report on LMS use in the library

For betterment of library service with the library of Loknaya Bapuji Aney Mahila Mahavidyalaya purchased SOUL software that is Software for University Libraries. SOUL is an integrated library management software developed by the INFLIBNET center, Ahmedabad. It is developed based on the requirements of the Indian academic Universities and mostly suitable for the Indian academic liabilities. It is user friendly software. It is developed to work under a client server environment.

In the first phase of automation, we had done the creation of a database in the catalog module, as it's a voluminous work (we have to feed bibliographical data about 10,000 titles) it took nearly 9 to 10 months. In the second phase we entered into the circulation module.

In the second phase generation of membership data, daily transactions have been done automatically. One of the major attractions of SOUL is its robust online public access catalog. The OPAC has a simple and advanced search facility with the minimum information of the item by using author, title, accession number, etc. Now we are planning for automation in other housekeeping operations of library.
